We Must Retain Silver Coins!

Study Released By American Mining Congress

THE Basis of Sound Coinage, a study just released by the American Mining Congress, is offered in the public interest as a sequel to the Memoir on the U. S. Gold and Silver Situation by Christian F. Verbeke, selected excerpts follow.

Opinions expressed in these reports do not necessarily reflect the views of PACE magazine, its editorial policies, its management or sponsors.

The American Mining Congress urges the Congress of the United States to retain the intrinsic value represented by silver in U.S. coins. This is essential to the well-being of the nation's domestic economy and its international prestige.

Early in 1965 the Congress of the United States will be asked to consider legislation to reduce, or possibly even eliminate, silver in U. S. coinage.

Whatever action Congress takes — action made necessary by continuing depletion of the U. S. Treasury's silver reserves — will have deep implications, historical and psychological as well as economic.

A reduction of the silver content in our coins is the most desirable solution to the problem. It is essential that some silver be retained in our coinage.

There is, in fact, no need to eliminate silver. A reduction of the silver content from the present 90 percent — coupled with a substantial increase in new silver production envisioned over the next four years — will see the country through the temporary shortage of silver and will assure a long-term solution to the problem.

The United States always has had silver in its coinage. While the value of the coins is not solely dependent on their silver content, the presence of silver does have a stabilizing effect and provides confidence in U. S. money. This has been particularly true since gold coins were withdrawn from circulation and becomes of even greater concern as paper silver certificates are withdrawn.

Elimination of silver from coinage would also wreak havoc with coin-operated devices throughout the United States. Most vending machines are geared to identify coinage by a number of tests including electrical conductivity. Dime-and quarter-sized coins without silver are rejected. Elimination of silver would result in a serious upset of our $3.5 billion automatic vending industry during an extended change-over period and would drastically affect the nation's economy.

Because of the serious consequences elimination of silver would have for the United States — both at home and abroad — and because the problem can be solved readily by a reduction in silver content, the American Mining Congress urges Congress to retain a requisite proportion of silver in U. S. coinage.

QUESTION: Why should the United States retain silver in coinage?

ANSWER: Retention of silver in coinage is essential to the well-being of the nation's economy and to the domestic and international prestige.

Through the retention of silver it is possible to maintain coinage of intrinsic value. This constitutes its basic strength.

Among the factors dictating silver retention:

1. Historical and psychological value: The attitude of the average citizen toward his money has played a significant role in the economic history of the United States and the rest of the world. It is this attitude which would most affect acceptance by the public of any solution to the present coinage situation.

Throughout most of U. S. history it has been possible to get coins in change for paper money. There have been exceptions, notably during the Jackson Administration and during the Civil War, when silver coinage was largely replaced by paper. However, such printing press money was an unsatisfactory substitute for subsidiary coinage of intrinsic value and the United States has not since embarked on such a program.

Americans' confidence in their coinage is solidly based on its acknowledged intrinsic value. This confidence can only be maintained by retention of silver content.

Significantly, there is a world trend toward resumption of silver coinage by countries which once abandoned it. These include Italy, Germany, Austria and France. These were precisely the countries in Western Europe that had gone through the most drastic experiences in currency devaluation. Their governments recognized that coinage of intrinsic value creates public confidence, as long as the intrinsic value is a significant fraction of the face value.

2. Dislocation of coin-operated merchandising: One serious economic dislocation resulting from elimination of silver in U. S. coinage would take place in the automatic vending industry, which now handles coins at the rate of $3.5 billion a year.

By 1970 the industry expects to double its volume largely by expanding automatic feeding programs in schools, hospitals and recreational area.

Because vending machines sell merchandise of a given value and because they are unmanned, they must be devised so they accept only legitimate U. S. coins.

Thomas B. Hungerford, executive director of the National Automatic Merchandising Association, has described the detection mechanism as follows:

"Every vending machine, with the exception of penny machines and those that dispense bulk merchandise, is equipped with a device known as a slug rejector. This small but complicated unit puts each nickel, dime and quarter through a number of tests. It accepts U. S. coins and rejects slugs and foreign coins . . .

"If silver should be eliminated entirely from our coinage, and alloys with different characteristics than those of present coins are substituted, such a change could wreak havoc not only in the automatic vending industry, but in all industries using coin-detection devices."

3. Protection from counterfeits: Coin counterfeiting has long been a negligible problem because of the distinctive properties and intrinsic value of silver. Counterfeiting a passable silver-content coin costs too much for the risks involved.

On the other hand, many coin-operated devices have presented opportunities for cheating without actually counterfeiting. They would accept any metal disc the general size and weight of a genuine coin. Manufacturers of coin-operated machines have countered would-be cheaters — and thereby made possible the growth of the automatic vending industry — by devising a mechanism which, based on the silver content, will accept only genuine U.S. coins and reject all imitations or "slugs."

4. Inconvenience to the public: Changing over the coin rejection devices in vending machines would be a mammoth undertaking requiring years to complete. Meanwhile the public would be con-

Introduction To Austrian Proof Sets

Numismatic Services, A Vienna Mint Tradition

By Christian F. Verbeke

A comprehensive foreign proof set collection — the dream of newcomers and veterans to the foreign coin field alike. Soon after introduction to the subject, however, many collectors realize the sizeable financial hurdles involved in completing countries such as Great Britain, South Africa, Canada, Australia; to complete a serial proof set collection of this type involves tens of thousands of dollars.

If motivated by the desire for completeness and serialization, the coin collector can consider Austria's proof sets, which fortunately have only been issued in 1963 and 1964 and still sell within reach of the average collector's pocketbook. Prevalent prices enable the prospective collector to get in virtually on the ground floor of the Austrian proof set situation, and to start a plan of systematic, year-by-year accumulation.

Background

While as such Austrian proof sets have only been released since 1963, the Vienna Mint is far from being a newcomer to the field of rendering numismatic services to coin collectors.

In a recent article published by the Austrian Information Services entitled "The Austrian Mint — A House of Tradition," the mint's activities were briefly described: "The Mint is, of course, responsible for minting the current coinage of the Republic, but it also acts like any other business enterprise in producing and selling commercial coins, such as, for instance, the silver Maria Theresia Thaler and the Gold Ducat. Other coins may be ordered by private customers whose names are never disclosed.

"Besides the Maria Theresia Thaler with the portrait of the famous Austrian Empress, gold coins (ducats, crowns, florins) bearing the portrait of Emperor Francis Joseph I are by far the Mint's best-sellers. Nobody, by the way, has ever suggested that Austria's State Mint was showing monarchist tendencies.

"Two years ago, the Mint published a catalogue in English, French, Spanish and German, listing all available items.

"Since the beginning of the 16th century, Gold Ducats have been minted almost continuously by the Austrian Mint. Only the very finest gold is being used, 23 2/3 carat. The medallions are truly works of art. Single ducat coins, as well as four-ducat coins, bear the date of 1915, the last year in which they were minted as official currency of the realm.

"During the old Austro-Hungarian monarchy, the ducat represented a kind of 'sterling value' of the currency. Today the demand for gold coin rises and falls with the international situation. In times of crisis, there is quite a 'run' on the Austrian mint. This was apparent, for example, during the Suez crisis, the period of tension over the Berlin issue and, most recently at the time of the controversy over the rocket bases on Cuba.

"Perhaps the best known and most popular of the coins minted in Vienna is the gleaming silver Maria Theresia Thaler. Even today the Thaler is the accepted currency in many parts of the Orient. Its production has risen steadily over the past few years, especially since 1960 when the Italian government handed back to Austria the original dies at the expiration of a 25-year agreement under which the Italian State had acquired the right to mint the Thalers.

"In contrast to the Gold Ducat, which bears the date of the last year in which it was minted, the Silver Thaler shows the date 1780, the year in which it was struck for the first time."

Ordering Procedures

More recently the Austrian Mint outlined its 1964-1965 ordering procedures: "We have the honour to inform you that the following listed coins are sold against payment in advance of the price of the coins and the cost of the postage:

a) a set of Austrian coins, consisting of each one coin to the nominal value of S 50'— (commemorative coin of silver — Winter Olympics), S 25' — (commemorative coin of silver — Grillparzer), S 10' — (silver), S 5' — (silver), S 1' —, S -'50, S -'10, S -'05 and S -'02 in proof condition costs U. S. $3'83. All listed coins are also obtainable separate in proof and in mint condition. Orders for these sets, respective coins, which the date of the year 1964 only are accepted till December 31st, 1964.

b) After January 1st, 1965, sets consisting of the coins to S 10'— (silver), S 5'— (silver), S 1'—, S -'50, S -'10, S -'05, S -'02 are obtainable for the present at the price of US $'80 for one set, but having the date of the year 1965. These coins also are to be had separately in proof — or in mint condition.

The complete set, with the date of the year 1965 including the commemorative coins to S 50'— and S 25'— are to be had from spring 1965. Orders for such complete sets 1965 are not accepted before appointment of the terms of purchase, that is at the earliest opportunity at the end of March 1965.

c) The Maria-Theresia-Thaler, a trade coins of silver. The price amounts in time US $ 1'07 for a coin in mint condition and US $ 1'11 for such one in proof.

d) The commemorative coins, with the face, value of S 25'— which were coined in the years 1956-1963 can be bought for US $ -'97 each and the commemorative coins, with the nominal value of S 50'—, which were coined in the years 1959 and 1963 for US $ 1'94 each. They are obtainable only in good till very good condition. The commemorative coin of S 25'— (1955—reopening of the federal theatres) is exhausted (sold out).

Owing to overcharging of our staff, WE ONLY CAN EXECUTE ORDERS WHOSE COUNTER-VALUE IS AT LEAST US $150.00 AND ASK ORDERERS OF SMALL QUANTITIES TO MEET THEIR SUPPLY WITH AMERICAN COIN DEALERS."

The Mint's recommendation to fill smaller orders with territorial U. S. dealers was additionally explained:

"In that case, that the value of your order exceeds the said limit of US $ 150'—, we ask you to declare the wanted sets, resp. coins, where upon we send you the proforma-invoice. In addition we remark, that at a commission-value of US $ 150'— the charges for carriage and handling fee amount approximately US $ 7'—, which will be set apart in the proforma-invoice and are to pay by the orderer."

From a purely numismatic viewpoint Austrian proof coins are of superlative quality. Austria's Vienna mint occupies somewhat of a median position in the vast array of worldwide proof production facilities. Vienna's quality in coinage has at times left to be desired, and sporadically high mintage issues turn up, not to mention the perennial 1780 Maria Theresia Talers. These unfavorable arguments are easily offset by the prodigious variety of high quality commemoratives issued regularly over some one hundred years.

Austria's preoccupation with aesthetics and art is well reflected in most of its coin issues although blended with the proverbial erratic and unpredictable national characteristics. The latter do not detract from the overall quality and charm in coinage design, however.

Increased interest was focused on the 1964 Austrian proof set upon the discovery of the Grillparzer error reverse. By the time of publication in the fall of 1964, some 3000 error sets had already been released.

Low Mintages Prevail

Table of Proof Mintages

| Date                      | No. of coins | Est. Mint. | Nov. '64 Price | Recent Price |

Outlook

Price projections for coins are essentially inaccurate is based solely on past performance. On a comparative basis, however, and considering relative low mintages of Austrian proof sets, it is not unlikely to see the 1963 and 1964 sets reach respectively $30 and $25 when the 1965 sets are made available. From all appearances, the Austrian Mint will continue the issuance of proof sets on a regular basis; resulting collectors interest should provide excellent demand and sustained price strength.

In view of the high commission charges, excessive delays for delivery and hiked minimum initial commitment to $150 by the Austrian mint, collectors might be well advised to contract with American dealers in order to avoid possible disappointment. This is of course the only remaining source to acquire '63 and '64 sets as a foundation for a comprehensive and year-by-year collection of Austrian proof sets.

Added incentives for prospective collectors are the yearly design changes in the 50 shilling and 25 shilling denominations; since each new design is a type in itself, the coins become targets for foreign type and commemorative collectors thus adding to an already brisk demand.

RARE 1964 DIME VARIETY

YOU'RE STARING at the FUTURE!

Remember the 1960 Small Dates and the 1955 double die cent, they sold for less than the now popular Pointed Tail 9 dimes. Look at what they sell for now: $400 for a roll of 1960-P Small Date and $300 for one 1955 DD. Now, while they're young and cheap, the Rare 1964 Pointed tail 9 Dimes BU sets in holder, 1964-P pointed tail 9 and 1964-D blunt tail 9, only $2.00 a set. Order 3 sets for $5.00. The 1964-D pointed tail 9 and 1964-D blunt tail 9, BU sets in holder, only $1.00 a set. Order 3 sets for $2.50. We feel the Pointed tail 9 dimes to be rare, less than 2,000,000 mixed with over 400,000,000 and they're still making more Blunts!

INVESTORS ROLL SPECIAL!

The Blunt tail 9 is common, we won't offer these, however with each order of any ten rolls we will ship a roll of Blunts Free! The 1964 Proof sets also have this popular variety, so it's no fluke or one die variety. Remember, the Small Date 1960 exists in P-D mintage and the proof sets. The pointed tail 9 also exists in P-D and 1964 proof sets! The combination and pattern is here, get on the ground floor!

We have a good retail coin trade here, so if you have any worth while items to trade for my Pointed tail 9 dimes, please make trade offers.

fronted with several problems.

First, until people learned why machines were rejecting their coins, they would undoubtedly be inconvenienced as well as considerably irritated.

5. Decreased market for manufacturers and suppliers: Vending machines now take in $3.5 billion annually for the merchandise they dispense. Although much of this would be sold through other outlets while the machines were being changed to accommodate the new coinage, a substantial decrease in sales during that period would undoubtedly ensue. This would result in a chain of serious economic consequences, affecting the wholesaler, manufacturer and raw material supplier, as well as the vending machine operator and the consumer.

At the same time, most thoughtful observers agree that a new U. S. coinage should meet three major criteria:

*That it maintain public confidence in the integrity of our money.

*That it fit itself into the U. S. economic structure with a minimum of disturbance or dislocation.

*That it circulate side by side with present coinage.

CONCLUSION

1. The United States has maintained an intrinsically valuable subsidiary coinage throughout most of its history. Intrinsic value — arising from silver content — is an important psychological contributor to public confidence in our entire currency system.

1965 B. U. CANADIAN COINAGE

Canadian coinage for 1965 promises to be the best yet. The obverse of all coins has been changed and now portrays a more mature image of Queen Elizabeth. We have seen Canadian coinage become scarce and prices rise in the years 1963 and 1964. We suggest that you order now while our prices are low. Again we offer our Layway Plan for easy financing.

VERY RARE OFFERING 1964 AUSTRIAN PROOF SET NEWLY ANNOUNCED ERROR

The Mint error, an inadvertent "mixing" of the correct obverse with incorrect reverse dies on the 1964 Grillparzer commemorative, may be the most important Mint mistake to emanate from post-World War II Europe.

The 1964 Grillparzer error occurred when a die used for the 1963 Prince Eugene of Savoy 25 schilling commemorative inadvertently was used in place of the regular Grillparzer reverse.

Folks ....

This is only my second trip to "Pace", but the boys have talked me into taking a regular contract, and I expect to be back regularly.

As you can see from this ad, I like to deal primarily in choice and rare material, but from time to time I do handle a fair quantity of rolls. In fact, my long standing philosophy is "Be prepared to buy anything and everything, as long as its saleable and the price is right!"

I have two right-hand men well worth mentioning. David Allen, formerly self-employed as a coin dealer in Virginia, manages our retail store. Hugh Turley, formerly of the Coin World Newspaper staff, manages our mail-order business. Personally well-I swept the floor today. Don't get any ideas, though. I have no intention of making a habit of it.

Look over our material. If we can't tempt you to buy, perhaps you will sell your coins to us instead, for slightly less.

Best,
"Shotgun"

SHOTGUN IS BUYING BU ROLLS and PROOF SETS

If you have choice material for sale and are willing to allow me a fair margin of profit, we can do business. Just drop me a line listing what you have for sale, and we will almost surely do business. Try me!

Key Dates

Below are listed prices for certain popular rolls. I will always buy these dates of rolls, either one at a time or in large quantities. My prices are pretty firm, but occasionally subject to some minor fluctuation as the market changes.

All prices are for strictly BU rolls, of course. Inferior rolls are worth less money. Oh yes, I'm in the market to buy most other dates, of course. All prices are for choice sets only. Sets 1955 and later should be in the original flat mint packages. Prior to 1955, sets should have equal value in boxes or holders. All prices are subject to minor adjustment without notice. I will buy in quantity, of course.

SALE - SALE - SALE STATE OF THE UNION MEDALS

This magnificent series of medals is now being struck one state at a time by Capital Medals, High Point, North Carolina. The silver medals are choice brilliant proof, struck on .999 fine silver, with frosty detail. Each medal is larger and much thicker than a silver dollar, and is serially numbered from 1 to 5000; although only about 2000 of each will be struck. The bronze medals are similar in size but are not proofs.

Each medal features the state capital building on the obverse, and the great seal of the state on the reverse.

I have a sizeable broken stock of mismatched serial numbers, which is the reason for this sale. Additional medals may be obtained directly from Capital Medals as they are issued, should you desire.

Space City Averages:

HOW THEY ARE OBTAINED

With close to 1,500 separate statistics appearing each week in PACE, a need exists to express this information in graphic form for busy readers.

We are currently charting eight different coin series each week as you see below. These charts are based on Space City Averages, an arbitrarily chosen group of rolls which we feel are representative of the total for that series.

To be included in the Space City Averages rolls are chosen on the basis of three factors: (1) their trading is constant, (2) they are widely held, and (3) they are indicative of the series.

It is obvious infrequently traded items, closely held items, and extremes in the series would not serve this purpose.

Each week the statistical staff of PACE prepares these averages from the information obtained on The United States Coin Exchange transactions.

The amount expressed in the Space City averages is the total market bid prices for the rolls included in the averages. This is a dollar figure and is compared with previous week, month, and year figures for analysis.

The high and low for 1964 is also shown.

MARKET SUMMARY

February 17, 1965

By Russell Brown

THE market completed a very inactive week with a few technical changes and an equality of advances and declines. The tapes were filled with requests and offers of foreign coins and proof sets. And dealers seem to be going back to the "request an offer" method of finding scarce rolls. As a result, bids on the standards were few and far between.

Picking the week's leader would be rather difficult but we will have to go with the Franklins. Though there was less volume in the series than in the past several weeks, advances still outnumbered declines and the averages hit a new high for the year, mostly on a show of strength by the 1949-D. All other prices remained near their earlier levels.

The early dates of Washington quarters were in demand with some fair sized increases noted in the forties. The 1941-S and the 1942-D both rose fifteen dollars or more in quiet bidding. The 1955-D continued its slow rise with a gain of two dollars. Little interest was shown in the late dates.

Lincoln cents reached a new high with the 1939-D advancing $15 and the 1960-P small date roll rising another notch. Here again, there are few bids for the late dates.

Nickels seem to have reached a plateau though there is still some price movement within the series. The 1950-D was offered in some quantity at reduced prices late in the week and some were spotted as low as $800. Bids over $800 are for strictly gem rolls which may be broken up for single sales. Among the war nickels, the 1942-P and 1944-D scored gains of eight and seven dollars respectively.

In the Roosevelts, there was some interest in the San Francisco issues of 1946 and 1947. Other than these, there were no significant changes. There were some sales in the 1955 issues but the only price movement was a slight decline by the Denver issue.

In the Morgan dollars, there were few bids noted on tape at realistic levels. Apparently, the dealers heavy in Morgans have "gone to the newspapers" to make sales and if you will look around you will frequently see paper sales at prices below our ask level and our staff is kept scurrying trying to keep the lists current. We noted several price lists with "teletype bids" higher than paper retail asking price.

The three heavy losers in this price cutting were the 1894-S, 1886-O and the 1889-S each with a decline of $25. At the other end of the scale, it appears that the junk dates are reaching toward a standard level of $1300 some are still in the $24-25 range, per bag ($26 per roll) though some are still in the $24-25 range.

The Peace series experienced the same difficulties as the Morgans and three issues lost varying amounts ranging from $5 to $30.

The Market Opinion

Shed a tear for our stat staff. Closing accurate prices on the smaller denominations is difficult enough but when you get up to the slow moving items like dollars, for example, obtaining accurate prices can be an impossible undertaking.

Two offerings of 1878-CC dollars were spotted on tape during the week at $155 and $152. Bids were picked up for $148 and $147. This is a pretty easy case and so we closed the price at $148-$152. Then we get a phone call from one of our advertisers who asks us whether we are trying to put him out of business. He says he is bidding $165 for the roll in lots of twenty rolls and will confirm all we can find for him. By this time our stat staff is climbing the walls. We tear through two hundred feet of tape and find the two offerings and call back with what we consider as conclusive evidence of the lower price. Our advertiser informs us that he bought both offerings over the phone and that his bid stands.

We next complete the check-out by calling the two offering dealers and they confirm the sale. Now we are presented with the problem of just what the bid for the roll really is. Refer to the market page and see whether you agree with us. And bear with us in the future. Our prices are as accurate as humanly possible.

Silver

2. In our increasingly self-service-conscious society, coin-operated devices play a major role. The majority of vending machines and other coin-operated devices in which we spend billions of dollars in coins every year are geared to the weight, size and electrical conductivity characteristics of present coinage. Tests on a variety of alloys show that silver content is essential to those characteristics for any coinage of comparable appearance and mintability.

3. Coinage with a significant silver content is uneconomical to counterfeit — an important consideration in view of the advanced state of the art of metal stamping.

4. Coinage with a significant silver content can live side by side with present coinage during the period the latter is being withdrawn. Gresham's Law — that bad money drives out good — should not apply to coinage with a lower silver content since its intrinsic value would make it "good money."

5. The free world's mining industry conservatively projects an 18 percent increase in new silver production now scheduled over the next four years. The figure will undoubtedly increase as present intensive exploration efforts bring in new ore bodies. The new production—added to present Treasury reserves and silver obtained from melting present coinage — would provide an ample long-term supply of silver for both industrial uses and coinage of a lower silver content.

An inherently valuable coinage is traditional to the stability of the American economic system. It should be retained.
